Prof. Sergio Fabbrini

A Federalist Alternative for European Governance

Cambridge University Press, 2024

How did the European Union (EU) deal with the crises of the 2010s and 2020s? In order to manage a policymaking process dominated by the claims of national and sub-regional governments, the book argues that intergovernmental governance has had to transform the EU into an international organization. Fabbrini shows that differentiated integration would further distance the EU from the project of an 'ever closer union' and, on the basis of a comparative federalism approach, he proposes an alternative paradigm of a multi-tier Europe with a federalist core to balance national sovereignties and supranational authority.
